COMMENCEMENT.

THE exercises of Commencement week opened on Friday evening, June 21, when the Senior class, together with several members of the Faculty, were most delightfully entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Sutton.

Upon arrival the guests were received by Mr. and Mrs. Sutton and Mr. Gordon. They were then appropriately "tagged" and left to solve the problems thrust upon them to the great amusement of all concerned. The elaborate refreshments, the favors, and the cordiality of the host and hostess combined to make the evening pass with charming informality.

The house was profusely decorated with daisies, the class flower, and the daisy idea was found in every detail of the entertainment. The class of 1907 is added to the long list of those who have enjoyed the hospitality of the president of the board and his charming wife.

The Baccalaureate Sermon.

The baccalaureate sermon was preached on Sunday morning, June 23, by Dr. F. S. Crawford, pastor of the Presbyterian church.

Dr. Crawford spoke on the habit of mastery, taking his text from Second Timothy, second chapter, fifth verse. He said in part: "Life is a struggle and this implies something to be won. This struggle must be for the mastery along three lines: mastery in knowing, in doing and in being. Not genius, but mastery is needed by the world. We may not in our school days attain to all there is in the world of knowledge, but there will remain the power to think clearly, a larger appreciation of the beauties of the world, a closer acquaintance with the great minds of the world through literature, and above all, the habit of mental mastery by which we are able to make our own the great things in the world of thought. This mastery along the line of knowing will be valueless unless we attain also to mastery in the world of doing. Last of all there needs to be mastery in the world of being. We must be in control of self—self-masters. What we are is greater than what we know, or what we do. Upon this depends our eternal destiny and to us is left the choice, for we may be what we will to be."

The church was decorated with daisies, the class flower. The music was a beautiful feature of the service. The vocal numbers were Jerusalem, from Gounod's Gallia; a Te Deum by Dudley Buck, and a solo, "I Have Fought a Good Fight," from Trowbridge's "Paul, the Apostle," sung by Prof. H. E. Cogswell. The instrumental numbers were the Adagio from string quartette in G Minor by Spohr, and a march by Salome.

Praise Service.

The annual praise service was held Sabbath evening, June 23, on the veranda. The meeting was in charge of Miss Leonard and Prof. Cogswell. Miss Leonard's reading of the scripture and her touching prayer, which followed, will not soon be forgotten. The music, under Prof. Cogswell, was well chosen and heartily sung. This closing service of the Christian work is an appropriate and effective exercise and is always well attended. One of the trustees remarked that he enjoyed this farewell praise service more than any other exercise of Commencement week.

The Commencement Concert

Was given Monday evening, June 24, before a crowded house. The program, in charge of Miss Cogswell, was an attractive one and will be noticed under music notes in this issue.

Class Day Performance.

"THE LITTLE MINISTER" SPLENDIDLY GIVEN BEFORE AN IMMENSE AUDIENCE.

1907's Class Day exercises consisted of a performance of the beautiful play, "The Little Minister," given on Tuesday afternoon, June 25, on a large stage erected in the grove especially for the occasion. An immense audience was in attendance and thoroughly enjoyed the play, which was given in a most finished and artistic manner. Miss Peale's careful work in coaching the actors was rewarded and crowned by the magnificent success achieved by each representative of the interesting characters portrayed. The stage setting was elaborate and beautiful, and close attention was given to each detail. The actors were filled with the spirit of the play and of their respective parts, and the audience was extremely enthusiastic. The cast was as follows:

Gavin Dishart.....	Hal Speedy
Lord Rintoul.....	John Pierce
Captain Hallowell.....	William McKee
Twaits, Lord Rintoul's servant	Lester Wingar

The Alumni Banquet.

The annual Alumni banquet is one of the most pleasing social events of the Commencement week, and this year it was a success in every way. There was a good attendance and the spirit throughout the evening was that of loyalty to the school that we have been taught to love.

The committee having the banquet in charge deserve praise for the excellent management. They had planned to furnish not only instruction and delightful entertainment, but also food fit for the gods.

Mr. Thomas Sutton spoke a few words of welcome to the great alumni family who had once more returned to their educational home, and then introduced Walter H. Jackson as toastmaster for the evening. Mr. Jackson spoke in response to the rapid growth of the school and the great strength of the alumni association, approaching two thousand in number. He also mentioned the fact that a movement is being agitated for the erection of an alumni building. This suggestion seemed to receive a hearty response and we believe that the time will soon be when Normal campus will be adorned with a new building, erected as a token of appreciation by those who have gone forth from the school.

The toastmaster first introduced Miss Mary Caldwell, '97, who responded for her class in very appropriate words. Miss Anna Laughlin spoke for the class of '07, reviewing briefly their class history and a few of their pleasing experiences while at Indiana.

Miss Sara M. Gallaher, '84, who has brought honor to herself and the school by forging ahead, was introduced, and gave an impromptu talk, "The Alumni whom I have recently met."

Miss Leonard responded to the toast, "As Ever." She plunged into the subject at once, talked rapidly, and stopped far too soon.

"Here and There" was the toast of Doctor Ament, who turned the tide of thought from the earnest to the humorous. He closed his talk by proposing this toast to the class of '07: "May you return in ten years with your number doubled."

At 10:30 the guests, two hundred in number, withdrew from the dining room to recreation hall where they spent the remainder of the evening in social dancing. The music was furnished by Kittering's band.

Commencement Day.

At 9:30 o'clock Wednesday morning, June 26, for the thirty-second time the Commencement procession formed, and the line moved forward to the chapel for the last act in the drama of the class of '07. "Young men whose generous hearts are beating high," and young women with the men of mastery were in the ranks. Theirs is a faith, sublime in its audacity, which surprises and inspires. To them, nothing is impossible. And why? '07 is a noble class. They believe that "the world moves," and they will make us believe that they move the world.

The following students received the highest rank in scholarship during the course.

MARY GLASSER,
MYRTLE FOALE,
EDITH KNOX,
FLORENCE STAHL,
BLANCHE HILLARD,
BERTHA BROWNLEE,
MARTHA STUCHUL,
LAURA ADAMS,
ELLA WINGERT,
MARY PINNOCK.

The program was of high order, and all the exercises commendable. The music was furnished by the conservatory.

Commencement Dinner.

The report of Commencement would not be complete without a reference to the excellent dinner prepared by Mr. and Mrs. Spence. The menu was all that could be desired. Everything was well prepared and well served. They are to be congratulated for the skill they showed in entertaining so hospitably and comfortably the Commencement guests.

"Never postpone a word of encouragement until tomorrow when you can speak it today."

Normal News.

Prof. Jacques, a former teacher of manual training in our school, with his wife, paid us a short visit recently, which was greatly enjoyed by his friends. He is teaching manual training in the Johnstown schools.

The societies will give their regular open meeting at the beginning of the Fall term.

The State Board this year was made up of Deputy Supt. Glenn, Principal Kemp, of East Stroudsburg, and Superintendents Mattie M. Collins, Cameron county, W. N. Ehrhart, Mahanoy City, O. A. Kilbourn, Potter county, H. G. Wightman, Altoona, James F. Wills, Mifflin county. They were a courteous set of examiners and performed their duties faithfully. All the students in the three classes passed the examinations and were accordingly promoted. There were on examination 57 Seniors, 80 Middlers, 98 Juniors. 26 of the Juniors were also Middlers.

Rev. Mr. Rust, of Rochester, N. Y., delivered an interesting and profitable lecture June 10. Subject, "Pluck versus Luck."

Miss Stella King, our skillful elocution teacher of a long time ago, writes us from "The Ardmore," Long Beach, Cal., where she is now staying, that she is making an effort to recover her health from the shock of earthquakes, fire and exposure that she suffered from the disasters in California. Of her property she saved nothing but a few nondescript things which she was able hastily to throw into a sheet. Miss King's Normal friends send her love and good wishes.

We had an unusually fine course of lectures at Indiana during the past year. For next year we have already engaged Leland T. Powers for October 29, George R. Wendling for December 5, and Thomas E. Green for January 25. These will be supplemented by equally high-grade entertainments, especially in the musical line.

The decoration of recreation hall for Commencement was unusually artistic. The Senior class colors, yellow and white, were used in the scheme. Pillars and windows were decorated with bunting. The class flower, the daisy, was used freely; the feature of the decoration was the enormous daisy so well wrought out on the ceiling. The color of the visiting class, green, and the figures "97," were in plain view, at the end of the hall. To the Middlers belongs the credit of all the decorations for Commencement week.

The many friends of our former Principal, Dr. Charles W. Deane, will be glad to know that he is still superintendent of the schools of Bridgeport, Conn. The Doctor is in excellent health, and weighs something over two hundred pounds.

His daughter, Mabel Deane, who graduated from Allegheny College last year, is teaching in the Philippines. Muriel is a Sophomore at Holyoke, and our "Barbara Deane" is now in the Bridgeport high school.

Doctor Deane proposes to conduct a party in Europe during the summer of 1908. For the benefit of those of his friends who may wish to join the party, we give the following :

Leave New York July 1-4, sailing direct to Gibraltar. Spend one week in Southern Spain, visiting Cadiz, Seville, Cordova, Granada (The Alhambra), and Tangier in Africa. Proceed to Naples, visiting Pompeii, Salerno, with drive to Amalfi. One week in Rome; three days in Florence; two days in Venice; Milan, Lucerne, Interlaken, Grindelwald, over the Wengern Alp, the Yungfrau, Lauterbrunnen Valley, Lake Thun, Berne, to Paris. Four days in Paris. One week in London. London to New York, arriving about September 1st.

In a few days Indiana will boast of an interurban line connecting it with Ernest, Clymer, and later Polairsville.

Much of the success of the reunion of the visiting class was due to the untiring efforts of Dr. Horace Carmalt. He and Mrs. Carmalt, by their genial helpful presence, added greatly to the enjoyment of the visitors during the entire week. To them and all of '97 we say, Come again. You have proved yourselves desirable guests.

The old fashioned "debating society" has passed away, but the principle on which it was founded is none the less secure. We have had good interest in debate in the societies this year. To think on one's feet is a mark of power.

"It is not birth, nor rank, nor state,
'Tis git-up-and-git that makes men great."

Improvements at Normal.

Many improvements will be made before the Institution opens, September 17th. The main improvement will be the renovation of John Sutton Hall from top to bottom. Many of the rooms in the hall will be refurnished throughout. New springs and mattresses will be put into more than half the rooms. The girls' parlor is to be carpeted and furnished anew. Several other pleasant surprises will await the old students.

New Members of the Faculty.

The faculty at Indiana is to be the largest in the history of the school. Two new chairs have been created, and some four or five assistants have been elected.

In order that Miss Leonard may have more time for her duties as preceptress, her department of English and History has been divided, and she becomes the head of the Department of English. Her assistants are to be Miss Margaret C. Davis and Miss Edna B. Smith. Miss Davis graduated at Indiana, and taught several years in some of the best private schools in New York City. For some time she traveled abroad and taught in India. She finished a course in Chicago University, from which institution she holds a bachelor's degree in philosophy. Miss Smith, a graduate of a Western State Normal, is an experienced teacher, of high reputation. She holds the degree of B. A. from Michigan University.

The head of the new department of history is Prof. Albert K. Heckel, of Pittsburg, who was for several years connected with the Swissvale High School.

Prof. Heckel is a B. A. and an M. A. of Roanoke College. He has done post graduate work at Johns Hopkins, and is now doing work in Harvard.

The new instructor in Modern Languages is Miss Estella V. Sherrill. Miss Sherrill is a graduate of two state normals, and holds the degree of A. B. from Michigan University, whose faculty recommend her in the highest terms.

Perhaps one of the ripest scholars who has ever taken a place on the Indiana faculty is Prof. John James, who takes charge of the Department of Chemistry. Prof. James is a Normal school man, but he finished his education in this country in Northwestern University and Michigan University, taking his bachelor's degree from the latter. Prof. James has travelled extensively abroad, and was a student for two years in the University of Halle, Germany, and one year in the Sorbonne, Paris. His teaching experience has been wide and varied, he having taught in several good high schools, besides being a member of the faculty at Epworth University, and at Michigan University.

Prof. James is a brother of Dr. Edmund J. James, president of the University of Illinois, who was for years one of the most noted members of the faculty of the University of Pennsylvania.

The members of the class of '07 will be pleased to know that one of their own members takes a place on the faculty. Mr. John M. Pierce is to be an assistant in the Department of Mathematics.

Miss Edith Chesebraugh, of the Department of Mathematics in the High School at Utica, N. Y., was also made an assistant in the Mathematics Department of the Normal. Miss Chesebraugh is a graduate of Cornell University, where she took her B. A., specializing in mathematics.

Miss Ida R. Glemser, a graduate nurse, will have charge of the Infirmary. Miss Fair will remain as her assistant.

Misses Crane and Fehmer have been added to the Conservatory faculty. Both are teachers of wide repute who have studied extensively abroad as well as in this country.

Still another addition will be made to the musical faculty.

Several other additions will be made to the Normal faculty, and among them will be a competent coach in foot ball.

The New Catalogue.

If for any cause you have failed to get a copy of the new catalogue, send for it. It is a real beauty. The cover design is handsome and unique, and the whole book is thoroughly and artistically illustrated, there being nearly two hundred illustrations. The old catalogue contained 74 pages, the new one contains 277 pages, making it nearly four times the size of its predecessor. The present Indiana catalogue is undoubtedly the finest ever published by a Normal school. Get a copy and preserve it.

Class of '97.

The Commencement season brought to Normal the class of '97, thirty strong. Those present were Martha Tibby Hervey, Grace Noble Lacock, Emelia Feicht, Eliza Johnson, Mrs. Georgia Lacock Griffiths, Irene B. Armstrong, Frances S. Hazlett, Elizabeth H. Welsh, Anna B. Smith, Esther V. Kearns, Horace G. Car-malt, M. D., Mrs. Horace G. Carmalt, E. Grace Stewart, Mrs. Maud Megraw Derrick, Abbie Shupe, Annette W. Shaw, Mrs. Clara Crawford Ross, Mr. C. F. Boarts, Mrs. Nan Klingensmith Boarts, Sara B. Klingensmith, Mary Caldwell, Nan Latimer, Mrs. Mary Calhoun Cribbs, W. F. Hammer, Mrs. Jessie McGee Geary, J. C. Williams, Mrs. J. C. Williams, Mrs. Anna Gilfillan Fife, Maud B. Graham, Mrs. Charlotte Rickabaugh Freas, Luella Uncapher.

The class met Monday morning with Dr. Carmalt chairman. Plans were made for the week and for a luncheon to be held in Pittsburg in the early autumn. A very delightful drive to the Indiana Country Club was enjoyed by members of the class with Miss Leonard as guest of honor. After the Commencement concert thirty-one of the class and their friends were happy in a supper at Patton's.

"97" was gracefully represented at the banquet by Miss Mary Caldwell, of Indiana, Pa., who responded with a toast "The Class of '97."

The good time enjoyed this week will ever be remembered by the class of '97 and through the Herald they wish to extend to the school their appreciation of the kindly spirit and the consideration shown them.

Miss Sauvage Resigns.

Miss Sauvage, who for the past seven years has been connected with the school in the capacity of instructor in French and German, has resigned her position with us to become the wife of Mr. Robert Elliot Owens of Cortland, N. Y.

Under her control the course in Modern Languages has become very popular. The department has more than doubled in numbers and the success of her students in the leading colleges of the country attests the efficiency of Miss Sauvage's work as a teacher.

Her charming personality has won for her many friends in Indiana whose good wishes she will carry with her.

The Annual Sermon.

The annual sermon before the Christian Associations was preached Sabbath evening, June 9, by the Rev. C. H. Rust, of the Second Baptist Church, Rochester, New York. His theme was, "Grasping the Prize;" text, Philippians 3 : 12; "That I may apprehend that for which also I am apprehended of Christ Jesus."

Y. W. C. A. Notes.

This year closes a decade of our history. In many respects it has been our most prosperous year. The membership is larger than that of any preceding year; the interest in all parts of the work has been well sustained; the outlook for the coming year is good.

The Bible study has been systematically carried on and the bands have been well attended. One hundred have been enrolled; the average attendance has been seventy.

The Association has paid annually for two years $100 to the support of Miss Batty, a missionary in Y. W. C. A. work in South America. Besides this it has done some other mission work.

The "Whatsoever Circle," established by Mrs. Lowrey, college secretary, in 1899, has had a beautiful mission in the school. Many a sick girl has been cheered by its little messages of love, often accompanied by fruit or flowers. The Y. W. C. A. parlor has received additions to its furnishings in the same quiet way, through the "Whatsoever." It is affiliated with the Y. W. C. A., and is in reality a part of it.

This year we sent three delegates to the Summer Conference at Silver Bay. Myra Shunfelt, Olive Wagner and Stella Fulton have this opportunity, and no doubt the Association will be richly rewarded by the inspiration they will bring.

The Associations have asked the Rev. Mr. Rust, who preached the annual sermon, to spend a week with us in Evangelistic work next November.

Y. M. C. A. Notes.

This last issue of the HERALD for the school year 1906-7 comes to the Alumni with good tidings for the Y. M. C. A. The work spoken of in the May issue has been going on with increasing velocity and the boys are enthused with the very bright prospects for the future.

The festival held in May was a complete success in every way and did much toward helping the boys to realize their hopes for the Northfield Conference. The end of the Spring term finds us with $134 in the treasury and no debts.

A new plan has been adopted for the disposition of our Northfield fund. By this, the Association pays the delegate's expenses and he promises to pay one-half of it back when he gets through school and is earning money. Six members left on Wednesday, June 26, for the Students' Conference to be held at East Northfield from June 28 to July 8.

The names follow:

Clarence E. Davis	Wills McFarland
Preston Urey	Erasmo Castanedo
Ord Rodkey	Frank Woodward

An anniversary meeting was held on Sabbath evening, June 9. Prof. Jacques, of Johnstown, addressed the Associations and left with us many helpful suggestions.

The term closed with the largest membership in the history of the institution.

Death.

Clara Craig Thomson, '05, died Sabbath morning, Feb. 17, 1907, after four weeks of painful illness. She is one of four sisters who have graduated at Indiana, Agnes M., '01; Catherine W., '01; Clara C., '05, and Margaret, '07. They have all taken a high place in the school, contributing especially to its social and religious life. The dear girl who has left us, was a member of the Sixth United Presbyterian Church, of Pittsburg, and a teacher in its Sabbath School. In her church and school duties, as in all the relations of life, she was competent and devoted, serving with a brave and cheerful heart.

"No man who questions the teachings of the Word of God should undertake to instruct immortal souls."

Conservatory Notes.

Monday evening of Commencement week, occurred the annual concert of the Conservatory of Music. The audience completely filled the chapel and many were obliged to stand. Notwithstanding the intense heat, there was good attention and generous applause.

Of the participants, Miss Nelle Hetrick and Miss Leona Stiles were graduated in the public school music course. There were other advanced students and members of the faculty.

Three new names are to be added to the faculty this year; all of these are artists of distinction with European training, and teachers of experience.

Should there be any of the alumni who are interested in the Supervisor's Course in Music and Drawing, or who know of any persons who would be likely to take up that work, send for catalog and other full information, which Mr. Cogswell will be glad to give. There are many calls for teachers of music and drawing with much better salaries than the average grade teacher can command.

The special catalog of the conservatory will be issued in a few weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Cogswell will visit the Pacific coast, where Mr. Cogswell as president of the music section of the N. E. A., will preside at the meeting at Los Angeles. They will return about August 1st.

Art.

At the beginning of the winter term, a new department in our school was opened,—“Supervisors' Course in Drawing.”

This course, which covers a period of two years, is designed not only to prepare students to teach drawing in any grade of public school, but also to fit them for supervising such work. There is an increasing demand for trained teachers to supervise both drawing and music in many of the towns and cities of the State.

Students now have an opportunity at Indiana to take a special course in music and drawing in preparation for such positions. Those of the regular course may specialize in either one of these subjects and thus prepare themselves for better positions and greater opportunities. The department is in charge of Jean R. McElhaney, a Pratt Institute student, who for several years had charge of the Art Department of the Johnstown High School.

This year two students have completed the course as it now stands, and will receive diplomas as soon as the new forms are designed and printed:

Julia A. Lillibridge, Port Alleghany, Pa.

Katharine I. Murray, Johnstown, Pa.

A well equipped room will greet the students of the past and future at the opening of school in the fall. There will be easels and a clay modeling outfit. This is only the beginning of a suite of rooms necessary for the different departments of this work so necessary to meet the advancement in educational training.

Our Exhibit.

Examination week, the work of the class in Supervisors' Drawing was placed on exhibition in the history and geography room in Leonard Hall, where it attracted not less than five hundred visitors before and after school hours. The exhibition covered all the work in drawing done in the different grades of public school from primary to high school; and was carried out in such mediums as pencil, ink and color tones, crayola, charcoal, pastels and water color—together with some work in cutting, weaving and basketry. Sketches, compositions in still life, pose from life, landscape, flowers, design, posters and construction, were the subjects.

Although the class organized with four members and closed with eight, the large room had all available space taken to exhibit the work of these busy people. Some pieces worthy of special note were: Art rugs designed by the two graduates—Misses Julia A. Lillibridge and Katharine I. Murray. The department will furnish these rugs of our own design for sale. Orders for the same may be sent to Miss McElhaney.

Original designs in book covers. Buttercup design by Carolyn Guthrie; daisies, Margaret Wilson; clover, Katharine Murray; snow drops, Julia Lillibridge. Compositions of Japanese lanterns in color, by all members of the class. Study of dogwood, in water-color which showed the leathery texture of the white blossoms, by Margaret Wilson. Composition from dogwood in pencil tones, by Jessie Shomo. Illuminated cards by all members of the class. Large posters illustrative of the different seasons, designed as calendars for the school-room—two by Margaret Wilson and Carolyn Guthrie as advertisements for church festivals—Easter and Christmas.

A beautiful Japanese landscape in pastels by Katharine Murray was framed and suspended above the display.

Notice of the next exhibit will be made and all are cordially invited.

"The graduates are going forth—
God bless them every one!
To run this hard and stubborn world
Just as it should be run;
But much I fear they'll find that facts
Don't always track with dreams;
And running this old earth is not
As easy as it seems."

The following pupils have completed the ninth year of the Model School and will hereafter be enrolled in the Junior Class of the Normal Department: Edwin Allison, Carolyn Guthrie, Alda Hoover, Helen Keepers, Mary King, Blanche Miller, Hazel McCoy, Clyde McMasters, Sam Rinn, Logan Williams, Blair Shumaker.

Edward Everett Hale writes these maxims: "Live in the open air as much as you can. Touch elbows, always, with the rank and file. Take care every day to speak with some one whom you know to be your superior."

"Why do you punch that hole in my ticket?" asked the little man of the railway official. "So that you can pass through," was the reply.—Ex.

Fisher, Mrs. Crawford, Mrs. Speer Guthrie, Mrs. Al Wallace, Mrs. Langham, Miss Maude Cameron, Miss Viola Simpson, Mrs. Nichol, Mrs. Campbell, Mrs. Keeler, Dr. Ament, Mr. Hickman, Mrs. Hickman, Mr. Hill, Mr. Loomis, Mr. Gordon, Miss McElhaney, Miss Leonard, Miss Barton, Miss Peale, Mrs. Chatham, Dr. Kemp, of East Stroudsburg, Hon. A. D. Glenn, Deputy State Superintendent, County Superintendents Collins, Kilbourn, Stewart, and Wills, and Professor H. J. Wightman, Supt. of Schools, Altoona, Pa.

Patrons' Day was observed in the Model School on Wednesday, June 12th. An informal reception of the friends and patrons of the school, the faculty and the members of the State Board of Examiners was held between the hours of nine and eleven. Classes were in session and an opportunity was given the visitors to inspect the organization of the school to see something of the methods of instruction, and to examine the exhibition of the work of the year. A considerable amount of work done in the drawing, manual training and sewing classes was displayed. The program of lessons is given below.

Under Mr. Cogswell's direction the pupils of the seventh, eighth and ninth grades gave a pleasing half hour song recital as part of the program for Patron's Day. The rendition of the songs showed most careful training. The solos, part songs and choruses were all sung very sweetly yet with such spirit and enthusiasm as to indicate genuine enjoyment and appreciation on the part of the children.

A series of very practical "civic health lessons" has been presented to the children of the Model School during the past year and more work along the same line will be done in the future. To quote Dr. Gulick, director of physical training in the public schools of New York—"While the laws of personal hygiene are recognized on every side and even taught to children, the wider laws of community hygiene have not in the past been included in the curriculum of our public schools. This might seem strange save for the fact that the entire subject of public health is modern. At last, however, instruction in the importance of the laws of civic hygiene has become imperative. Scientists have learned not merely the causes of a high death rate but the way to avoid them. Moreover, the modern methods of research are of such profound interest that I can discover no reason why they should not be presented to school children with the sure expectation of enlisting their enthusiasm in the work of raising the standards of city life." Lessons on the following subjects have been presented to the upper grades: Care of Streets, Our Water Supply—How Procured and Kept Pure, Sewage, Preventable Disease, Food Inspection, Epidemics and Disease Microbes, Vaccination, Tuberculosis and the War Against It, Why Mosquitoes Should Go, Hospital, Dispensary and Ambulance.

Dr. Gulick's little book, "Town and City," is of the greatest assistance to the teacher who believes that it is her duty to contribute to the public welfare by enlightening the children under her tuition on topics of such general importance.

Commercial Department.

During the past year there has been an enrollment of 103 students in the Commercial Department—the largest in the history of the school.

During the year we have graduated 30 students, the following having completed the commercial courses during the Spring term: Wm. Francis Smith, Florence M. Phyllis, Laye Louise Stein, Leonora C. Dolphin, Jane Brown, Grace Orr, Arthur F. Lowry, S. R. Hancock, Judson W. Mountan, Margaret Augusta Peelor.

Most of these have already secured positions.

The prospects for a large attendance during the coming Fall term are very bright.

Manual Training.

During the past year change and improvement in the work of the Manual Training Department have continued. If one may judge from the number of persons who stop regularly to take note of what is going on in the observation hive, aquaria and other nature study apparatus made and in operation at the windows, this kind of work could certainly be made most interesting and instructive in the public schools. Clay modeling, raffia work, and real Indian basketry with material and working models prepared and made by the Penobscot Indians, are so popular with the students that many have expressed their intention of doing extra work along this line when school opens in September. We also tried the experiment of making baskets from native material gathered by the students. The possibilities in this direction seem very encouraging. An octave of organ pipes, patterned after some of those in our new pipe organ, was worked out as a class project. A departure from the ordinary method was the plan of having a part of the practice teaching done in this department. Miss Myrtle Durst, Mr. Wm. C. McKee, Miss Ida Kuhns, and Miss Carribell Cook were the pioneers assigned to this work.

Athletics.

Indiana Normal entered a new field in the domain of athletics this spring, when her track team ended its first season by defeating the veteran Kiski team at Saltsburg. Although almost a new sport at Indiana, track athletics attracted a great deal of attention, and excited much interest among the boys. As all but one member of this year's team will be in school next year, Normal expects to enter a strong team in the Western Pennsylvania Intercollegiate meet, as well as to retain the meets which were secured this year.

The relay team covered itself with glory by winning the Normal School championship of Western Pennsylvania, held at Grove City College on May 25th. Berlin Empfield, who captained the team this year, will be captain next year.

The Baseball team, after a poor start, got going before the end of the season and showed its true form by winning one game from Kiski and losing the second only because of the admissible home rooting of the Kiski supporters. A good showing was made against State College when Normal lost 7-4 only after her only pitcher had been injured by a batted ball.

PLACE MANY STENOGRAPHERS

Remington Typewriter Co.'s Employment Departments Break Records.

Following its annual custom, the Remington Typewriter Company has just published figures showing the number of stenographers placed in positions by the company's free employment departments throughout the country in the last year. Through the medium of these departments stenographers in the leading cities were placed as follows: New York, 10,040; Chicago, 6,030; St. Louis, 2,633; Boston, 2,198; Philadelphia, 2,129; San Francisco, 1,795; Pittsburgh, 1,630; Kansas City, 1,605; Cincinnati, 1,113, and Dallas, 1,048. In eight other cities the thousand mark was almost reached.

These figures are record-breaking, showing unprecedented demand for stenographic help. Even in San Francisco, despite the earthquake disaster, more stenographers were placed in positions than ever before and the Remington office in San Francisco reported that the demand for typewriter operators exceed the supply by more than two to one. The continued prosperity of the country, the company points out, is clearly reflected in the increasing demand of the business world for more operators of writing machines.—"New York Press."

ADVICE.—Prepare for one of these positions by taking our Shorthand or Commercial Course. Have no fear of securing good positions. Our enrollment in the Commercial Department has passed the 100 mark this year.
